Now, summaries will be made available via the web: <http://birds.audubon.org/christmas-bird-count>

Las Cruces CBC. December 22. This year marks year number 37 for the Las Cruces CBC, and it's shaping up to be another interesting one. If you're interested in participating, as a team leader, team member, or feeder-watcher, contact one of MVAS's co-organizers: David Griffin (griffinbio@gmail.com or 575-640-0029) or Ken Stinnett (kenstin7@gmail.com or 575-649-3781).

La Luz CBC. December 29. This CBC in the foothills of the Sacramento Mountains northeast of Alamogordo picks up an interesting mix of desert and montane species. Caballo CBC. January 2. This count around Percha and Caballo State Parks has led the state of NM for the past 5 years in terms of total number of species tallied (128 last year). To volunteer, contact John Douglas at 575-541-0133 or jlddouglas@zianet.com.

Field Trip Report: LC Dam

On September 22, fourteen birders gathered to search for migrants behind the south end of the Las Cruces Dam. We tallied 48 species (including 11 species of sparrow), plus an unidentified, disappearing Accipiter, in about 3 hours of birding. The good birds started early, as the earliest birders to arrive got to enjoy a male Western Tanager that graced a small oak tree in the strip mall parking lot where we gathered, and then we got to enjoy spotting scope-enhanced views of an Osprey eating its breakfast as we waited for the last folks to arrive. Later, when we were much closer to the Osprey, it flew off to the northeast, and returned a few minutes later with its second course: a goldfish snagged from a pond on the Sonoma Ranch golf course. Another highlight was seeing 2 Grasshopper Sparrows, including one who sat up and posed in perfect light for several minutes, affording us great opportunities to study and photograph this normally secretive species.

Audubon Adventures: 2012-2013

This environmental education program includes 4 take-home newsletters for students that include vibrant photos and lively illustrations to bring the natural world to life right in the classroom. The title of the edition for the 2012-2013 academic year is Sharing our Earth. Individual newsletter topics are as follows: "Share Our Shores", "Caring for Our Planet - Be a Friend of Birds", "World of the Forest", and "Grasslands: A Prairie Tale". Local fourth-grade teachers have been contacted, and they have requested kits for 29 classrooms for the upcoming school year.

Mesilla Valley Audubon Society, a chapter of the National Audubon Society, is a conservation and natural history organization in southern New Mexico that promotes appreciation and conservation of birds, other wildlife, and habitat, through environmental education, issue advocacy, and natural history experiences.

Board meetings are held monthly, on the Thursday before the 3rd Wednesday at 5:30 PM at the Southwest Environmental Center (on the downtown mall). All Audubon members are welcome.
